To calculate the overall star rating and percentage breakdown by star, we don't use a simple average. Instead, our system considers things like how recent a review is and if the reviewer bought the item on Amazon. It also analyzes reviews to verify trustworthiness. See All Buying Options Add to Wish List Disabling it will result in some disabled or missing features. You can still see all customer reviews for the product. As far as lasting, I have had two in sixteen years. Reviewed in the United States on September 24, 2009 This machine was fine for the first few months. Then one day as I was using it, it made a huge popping noise, and that was the the end of it. Sending it back for warranty repair would have cost more than purchasing another Krups Allegro machine, which had been a work horse for 15 years prior to the purchase of this product. We chose to toss the DeLonghi and buy a new Krups! Please try again later. From the United States Please try again later. The only complaint I have with this machine is that the frother is so short, I have to dangle it off the edge of my countertop to get my milk in Im a latte fiend!. The manual included with the machine is mysteriously silent on the use of what looks like the place to pour your water for the espresso as another Reviewer mentioned The visual instructions show you pouring your water into the space with the screw off cap, which is what I do. There are exposed screws showing, so I really dont think its for water. Im thinking practice will make perfect. BTW, I bought Espresso Roast Starbucks Ground for Drip Coffee makers at the store, and it really DOES taste like the real thing. Bottoms up and Cheers! BEC Please try again later. We followed DeLonghis instructions to send the coffee maker back to them for service. After three months, we still do not have the replacement unit or a commitment from DeLonghi as to when it will be returned. Our emails inquiring as to the whereabouts of the unit have resulted only in form letters that do not even address our questions. Please try again later. Please try again later. PRH 2.0 out of 5 stars The removable tank is nice you can wash it but awkward to use if you have the unit under a cabinet. Also the unit has a big footprint so that may be of consideration if your counterspace is limited. I used to have a Delonghi pumpdriven espresso machine that worked great. This one has a steam driven espresso that most coffee connoisseurs will advise against. Ive tried different grinds and tamping the coffee really hard you have to buy a tamper with this one it still builds too much pressure and it shoots out bitter coffee flavored steam after a short while. Also the markings on the pots peel off pretty quick. Not worth the money unless you get it for cheap on ebay. Please try again later. Please try again later. David R. 4.0 out of 5 stars On Christmas morning I got up early and made a pot of regular drip coffee. Good flavor, and the machine functioned as it should. Then my mother tried to make Cappucino, and had the same problem that some of your reviewers had, not enough steam to froth the milk. I then read some reviews and got a little worried about my purchase. She attempted to make another batch of Cappuccino while I was there and again had little steam pressure. I noticed that the knob was not fully set at cappuccino. I adjusted the knob, and Voila. Plenty of steam. I dont know if others problems were caused by this but our machine makes good cappuccino and espresso. The drip coffee is excellent. I like the removable drip coffee reservoir, much easier than filling it up with a pot. Please try again later. Please try again later. 0 out of 5 stars We have resorted to keeping a towel near the coffee maker because it is almost impossible NOT to spill while pouring hot coffee from the large glass carafe. BTW the carafe is now chipped and I am having a bear of a time finding a replacement carafe. If its damp or if we forget to hand dry the coffee filter area, we end up with an overflow of hot water and coffee grounds on the counter. Dear DeLonghi, please rethink the carafe pour spout and NEVER sell a product with removable parts that can not be easily replaced. The coffee is delicious, the machine looks very cool, just make it work better. Please try again later. Please try again later. J. Dominic Mezera 1.0 out of 5 stars The trouble I would have with this machine and Delonghi was evident with the first machine. Every time I finished making an espresso the steam would come out of every crevice on the machine. That wasnt too big of a deal, except that the clock would get funky and only display half of a number. I immediately took it back to the retailer and picked up the same model, thinking my first machine was just defective. I soon learned that I could have probably taken the entire stock home and still have problems. The portafilter for the espresso broke a month after using the new machine. To make matters worse, the frother stoped pumping the milk through and only spit out hot water. Please try again later. Please try again later. C. Rahn 3.0 out of 5 stars This machine is an affordable product that yields a decent cappuccino and coffee, not the best Ive had but pretty good considering the price. I have also had problems with descaling issues and have had the machine repaired once already. When I called DeLonghi about the second breakdown, they informed me that it would not be fixed under warranty for 2 reasons first, they questioned whether I had followed the maintenance guidelines i.e.

they didnt believe me, and second they said that since the warranty period had expired it had been 13 months only since I purchased they could do nothing about it. It worked horribly for a while yet, but I had switched to using my bottled water instead of tap water, and I found that this eliminated my scaling issues, and now, incredibly, the problem is gone! Who knew. Still too much work for something this expensive. Next time I will save up and buy a better product. Please try again later. Please try again later. Cortaj 2.0 out of 5 stars I havent tested out the espresso maker yet but Im confident it will be fine. My problems with this product are 1. Its very cheap looking. Its cheap and bubblyplastic looking. That might not be a problem for everyone. And honestly it shouldnt be a problem for me either. So I dont know what I was expecting. It looks fine for that price. 2. One piece the cover to the compartment where you put the water was broke when the package arrived. All the other parts are so cheap they dont seem to fit together very well. For instance, I cant swing the coffee filter dish closed if the coffee pot is on the burner. The filter dish swings low. The Espresso filter thingy is hard to lock in but that might be the case with all espresso makers. And one of the heating buttons the one for making over 6 cups didnt work when I got the package. Over all I think the presentation of this product is very Shoddy. However the coffee tastes alright so really its worth exactly what I paid for it. I was being cheap. On a better note, it came pretty quickly. Please try again later. Please try again later. Coffee Cat 1.0 out of 5 stars I received this as a gift to replace an old Mr. Coffee. The first one was mailed hereordered from a retail company. It arrived with a broken carafe. The company we ordered it from tried to find a replacement but gave up and suggested we just return the entire thing. They sent us a new one at no charge.

It worked great for about four months. Then it began leaking badly coffee maker side. The company help line was constantly busy. After a couple weeks we gave up and my husband took it apart and fixed the leak as best he could. We discovered the internal parts are quite delicate. It worked again with lots of careful treatment for a couple weeks and then died completely. After a couple months I gave up trying to reach the company and have simply resolved to not purchase DeLonghi anymore. Compare this to our Mr. Coffee we had to put back into service it still works and is ten years old. My parents have had a cuisinart thermal carafe for a couple years. They bought us one. I am skeptical of anything other than the standard brands at this point so we will see. Plus no espresso. Please try again later. Please try again later.
